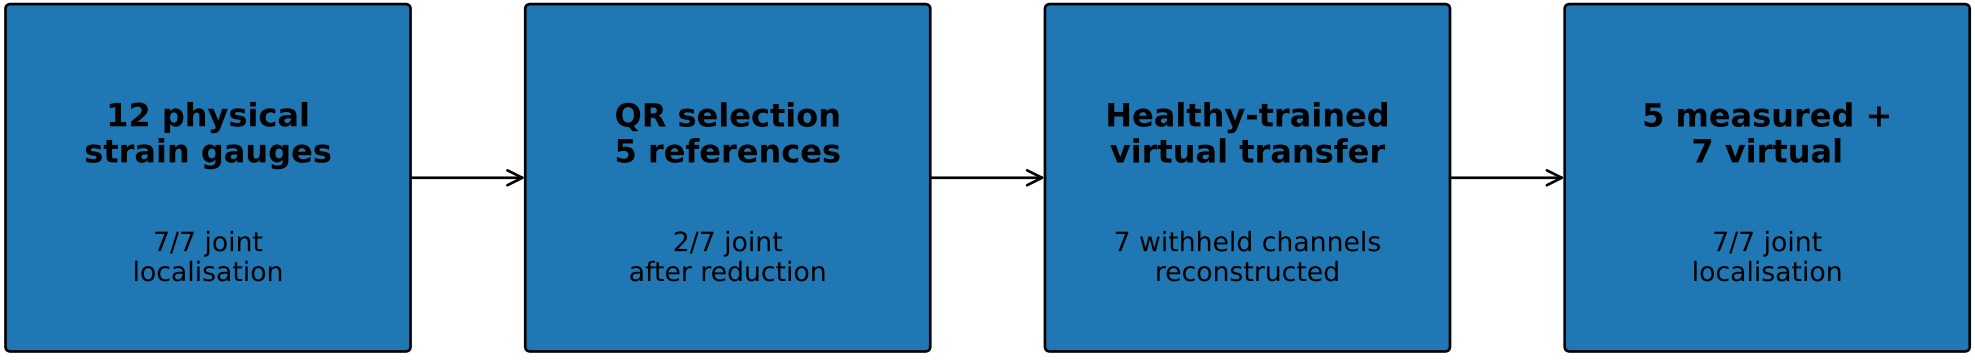
Vänersborg sensing experiment: information loss and recovery



Virtual channels are historically calibrated reconstructions of removed physical gauges;
they are not independent measurements and are not FE-generated sensors.